

APPENDIXES

APPENDIX 1

The Fourteen Stories of Master Q

As the Study

Tak Seru Lagi

Tertipu

Tahun Baru

Iseng

Gila Benar

1

2

3

4

5

6

Pelayan Selebor 3

Buta Huruf

Sok Tahu

Appendix 2

The analysis of the fourteen stories of Master Q based on the Grice's Maxims, Illocutionary Act Types and Reason for being humorous

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims							Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			Violated Maxims							Illocutionary Act Type
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
1	1	Child: Ayah..Ayah! (father..Father) Mr. Q: Anak ini pisah dari ayahnya (This boy is separated from his father) Child: Wa.. (Wa...) Mr. Q: Jangan menangis, kita cari ayahmu! (Don't cry, let find your father) Mr. Q: Siapa nama ayahmu? (Who is your father's name?) Child: Ayah (Ayah) Mr. Q: Silent Mr. Q: Bagaimana ibumu memanggil ayahmu? (How does your mother call your father?) Child: Sayang (Honey)									✓

- Maxims
1. Maxim Quality
 2. Maxim Quantity
 3. Maxim Relevance
 4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types
1. Representative
 2. Expressive
 3. Verdictive
 4. Directive
 5. Commissive
 6. Declaration
 7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims							Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
2	3	Director: Master Q, coba jelaskan persoalan perusahaan kita! (Master Q, tell them about our company's problem!) Mr. Q: Saudara sekalian, saya Master Q, saya sudah bekerja di sini selama 40 tahun. Jadi pegawai paling senior di sini adalah saya.(Ladies and gentleman, I'm Master Q, I've been working here For 40 years. So I'm the senior here.) Director: Surprised Mr. Q: Setelah perang dunia ke II, saya sudah bekerja di sini. Waktu itu direktur kita baru SD. Sekarang Dia sudah kawin dan punya anak tiga. (After World War II, I've worked here. At that time our director was in Elementary. Now, He is married and has three children.)			✓			✓			✓			✓																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																															</

- Maxims

1. Maxim Quality
2. Maxim Quantity
3. Maxim Relevance
4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

1. Representatatives
2. Expressive
3. Verdictive
4. Directive
5. Commissive
6. Declaration
7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims				Illocutionary Act Type							p	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
		Director: Hey, kamu ini bicara apa, dasar! (Hoi. What are you talking about?) Mr. Q: Silent					✓		✓						Silent
3	4	A Man: Master Q, apa artinya pahlawan tanpa tanda jasa? (Master Q, what does pahlawan tanpa tanda jasa mean?) Mr. Q: Dasar!, begitu saja nggak tahu, anak SD aja tahu! (You, don't know it, The elementary students know that!) A Man: Silent Mr. Q: Keterlaluan, semua orang tahu apa artinya itu. Kau sendiri yang tak tahu..dasar..makanya (Everyone know what it means, only you whom does not know) A Man: Kicks Mr. Q		✓				✓		✓		✓				Silent	The way Mr. Q answers the questions is going around the bush. It seems that Mr. Q also does not know the answer. Mr. Q does not give any information.
																Kicking

- Maxims
 1. Maxim Quality
 2. Maxim Quantity
 3. Maxim Relevance
 4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types
 1. Representative
 2. Expressive
 3. Verdictive
 4. Directive
 5. Commissive
 6. Declaration
 7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims				Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
4	8	Mr. Q: Susi terimalah cintaku! (Susi, accept my love!) Susi: Tentu sayang. (Absolutely honey!) Susi: Citamu kuterima dengan tulus (I sincerely accept your love) Mr. Q: Shocked Mr. Q: Apa kau bilang? (What did you say?) Mr. Q: Astaga, ih,seram amat. (Oh My God, ih..so scare Susi: (Confused) Mr. Q: (Runs)														Mr. Q must be happy if his love was accepted instead of being scared and running
								✓									Shocked
								✓										Confused
								✓
5	9	A Man: Ini anggur terbaik.merupakan resep keluarga! (It is the finest wine's family prescription) A Man: Toss! (Cheers!) Mr. Q: Enak sih..anak, tapi rasanya seperti ada rasa ular (Good taste. great, but its taste like a snake!)						✓
														✓
														✓

- Maxims

1. Maxim Quality
2. Maxim Quantity
3. Maxim Relevance
4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

1. Representative
2. Expressive
3. Verdictive
4. Directive
5. Commissive
6. Declaration
7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims							Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
		A Man: Betul, anggur ini terbuat dari darah anak ular.(Right, It is made of snake's blood) Mr. Q: Shocked	√				√									The Man should not tell Mr. Q that the wine is made of snake's blood
6	13	Mr. Q: Terima kasih! Ikan kubawakan sebuah lagu lagi. (Thank You. I'll sing once more) A Man: Cukup! Kau itu menyanyi atau menggonggong, sih? (Stop! Are you singing or barking?) A Man's Brother: (Clapping) Mr. Q: Tapi, kenapa adikmu senang dengan suaraku? (But, why does your brother like my voice?) A Man: Dia kan tuli! (He is deaf!) Mr. Q: (Shocked)	√				√	√			√					Clapping	The man does not tell that his brother is deaf in the first place, so that Mr. Q lack information.
			√													Shocked

- Maxims

1. Maxim Quality
2. Maxim Quantity
3. Maxim Relevance
4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

1. Representative
2. Expressive
3. Verdictive
4. Directive
5. Commissive
6. Declaration
7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims				Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
7	16	A Man: kita santai di mana? (Where are we going to relax?)									✓
		A Man: Di rumahku saja, kita nonton TV ada acara film.(Just at my house, we wach TV)									✓
		A Man: Katanya film ini ceritanya sangat rumit, jadi nontonnya harus konsentrasi (This story is complicated, we have to pay attention!)						✓							✓
		A Man: Nah, mulai! (Here, it start)													✓
		Mr. Q: Film ini aku sudah pernah nonton. (I've seen this film)		✓				✓
		Mr. Q: Dia ini yang menjadi pembunuhnya (She is the murderer)		✓				✓
		A Man: (Angry)													Angry

- Maxims

 1. Maxim Quality
 2. Maxim Quantity
 3. Maxim Relevance
 4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

 1. Representative
 2. Expressive
 3. Verdictive
 4. Directive
 5. Commissive
 6. Declaration
 7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims							Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
		Mr. Q: Yah benar; dia tuh yang punya kepribadian ganda (Right, She is split personality) A Man: (Angry)	✓				✓									Angry	Mr. Q tells too much about the film so that it makes the man not enjoy the film and thus makes him angry
8	18	Mr. Q: Hadiahmu diganti uang, pilih mana, barang atau uang? (Your prize is changed, which one do you prefer, a thing or cash?) A Man: Barang (A thing) Mr. Q: Uang setengah juta? (Half million cash?) A Man: Tetap barang (Still thing!) Mr. Q: Baiklah kalo begitu baca yang keras! (Ok, read it loudly!) A Man: Satu sikat gigi (A tooth brush) Mr. Q: (Laughing) Mr. Q: Haha.. Dasar goblok! (Haha You're idiot!)	✓					✓		✓			✓				Laughing	Mr. Q is laughing at and scorns someone misfortune which is not supposed to be done. Mr. Q says a false thing

- Maxims

 1. Maxim Quality
 2. Maxim Quantity
 3. Maxim Relevance
 4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

 1. Representative
 2. Expressive
 3. Verdictive
 4. Directive
 5. Commissive
 6. Declaration
 7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims				Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
9	19	Children: Master Q kami belum dapat Angpao. (Master Q we haven't got Angpao!)					✓								Mr. Q is lying that those children are his children so that the man gives them "Angpao"
		Mr. Q: Aku ada akal. Ikut caraku pasti dapat Angpao. (I have an idea, follow me, you must get it)					✓			✓
		Mr. Q: Ini anakku! (They are my children!)	✓				✓							✓
		A Man: Tak kusangka (I don't realize it)
		A Man: Ni, Angpao untuk kalian (Here, The Angpao for you)								✓
		Children: Terima kasih! (Thank you!)						✓
		A Man: (Wondered)
		A Man: Tapi, Eh.. Dia kan belum menikah! (But, doesn't he get married yet!)					✓							Wondered

- Maxims

1. Maxim Quality
2. Maxim Quantity
3. Maxim Relevance
4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

1. Representative
2. Expressive
3. Verdictive
4. Directive

5. Commissive
6. Declaration
7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims							Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
10	20	Guest: Maaf saya mau tanya penghuni rumah ini, apakah dia Master Q? (Excuse me, I want to ask, is this house belong to Master Q?) Mr. Q: Benar! (Right!) Guset: Apakah dia di rumah? (Is he at home?) Mr. Q: Tidak ada (No, he isn't) Guest: (Silent) (Guest Thinking): Hm..Dia ini persis sekali! (Hm. He is similar to Master Q!) Guest: Kapan dia pulang? (When will he be back home?) Mr. Q: Baru saja pulang, ada perlu apa? (He just arrived, what's a matter?) Guest: (Surprised)

- Maxims

 1. Maxim Quality
 2. Maxim Quantity
 3. Maxim Relevance
 4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

 1. Representative
 2. Expressive
 3. Verdictive
 4. Directive
 5. Commissive
 6. Declaration
 7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims							Illocutionary Act Type							p	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
11	21	Ubi: Bos mau naikan gajimu 50% (The Boss will raise your salary by 50%) Mr. Q: hebat...sik, asyik, asyik (Great...Hooray, hooray) Ubi: Jabatanmu juga akan dinaikkan! (You will also be promoted) Mr. Q: Sik-asyik-asyik, bat, hebat.. (Hooray-hooray-hooray, great, great..) Ubi: Tapi, kamu akan dibawa ke rumah sakit jiwa (But, you'll be taken to a mental hospital) Mr. Q: Sik, asyik-asyik, bat-hebat, hebat (Hooray-hooray, great, great) Mr. Q: (Cheering)					✓

- Maxims

 1. Maxim Quality
 2. Maxim Quantity
 3. Maxim Relevance
 4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

 1. Representative
 2. Expressive
 3. Verdictive
 4. Directive
 5. Commissive
 6. Declaration
 7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims							Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
12	22	Customer: Heh- supnya kok dingin? (Heh- why is the soup cold?) Mr. Q: Masa? (Is it?) Mr. Q: (Puts his hand into the bowl) Mr. Q: Oh ya..benar, dingin! (That's right, It's cold!) Customer Thinking while seeing what Mr. Q doing: Hah, dikobok? (Hah, he puts his hand into the bowl?) Mr. Q: haha...ini sup kemarin..ha,dasar orang bego! Sup kemarin dibeli (haha..It's yesterday soup, you are stupid man, buy yesterday soup)	✓															Putting his hand into the bowl

- Maxims

1. Maxim Quality
2. Maxim Quantity
3. Maxim Relevance
4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

1. Representative
2. Expressive
3. Verdictive
4. Directive
5. Commissive
6. Declaration
7. Phatic

No	Number of Dialogue	Utterances	Violated Maxims				Illocutionary Act Type							P	Reason for being Humorous
			1	2	3	4	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
14	26	A Man: Aku punya anak gadis,pusing aku cari menantu! (I have a daughter and looking for a son-in law, gives me a headache) Mr. Q: Saya saja (Let me be) Mr. Q: Anakmu adalah belahan jiwaku dan cintaku. (Your daughter is my soul mate and my love) Mr. Q: Calon mertua, terimalah sembah dari mantumu. (My father-in law, accept the honor from your son-in law!) A Man: Tapi anaku baru berumur 8 tahun. (But my daughter is still 8 years old) Mr. Q: (Surprised)		✓				✓																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																																		</

- Maxims

1. Maxim Quality
2. Maxim Quantity
3. Maxim Relevance
4. Maxim Manner
- Illocutionary Act Types

1. Representative
2. Expressive
3. Verdictive
4. Directive
5. Commissive
6. Declaration
7. Phatic